On behalf of everyone at the International Rescue Committee, please accept my heartfelt thanks for your generous gift of $8,175. It is only with the support of such compassionate partners as you that the IRC can help refugees in the United States to rebuild their lives.

By contributing to the IRC's Emergency Appeal for Refugees in the United States, you are helping to protect our resettlement programs in 29 cities across the country. Your generosity enables our dedicated staff to meet the essential needs, including housing and health care, for newly arrived families. And your support means we can continue to empower refugees in the United States to learn English, enroll their children in school, find employment, start businesses and become American citizens.

Because the lives of so many of the world's people have been shattered by violence and natural disaster—more than at any time in recorded history—your generosity at this moment is especially appreciated. Thank you for being an important part of the IRC community and for your commitment to ensuring that the IRC will continue to be here for humanity.
